

Executive Summary for Travel Advances & Travel Expenses

The following is intended to outline the major requirements and highlight changes and clarifications from the previous policy. The new policy has been designed to include best practices and consistency with peer Universities. Generally speaking, there are no restrictive spending limits. The traveler should use prudent judgment in selecting moderate lodging & reasonably priced meals based upon their destination. More restrictive policies may be set at the department or school level. However, it is the responsibility of the department or school to document, communicate, and enforce any restrictions they impose. More details and instructions can be found at aishelp.wustl.edu, Accounts Payable.

Executive Summary

- Formal approval of travel before the trip is not required.
- Travel can be paid for using the following methods:
 - Personal Credit Card
 - Travel Advance
 - Corporate Travel and Entertainment Card
 - Procurement Card
- There is not a specific deadline when one can obtain a travel advance in order to cover costs paid up front (e.g. purchasing an airline ticket months in advance of the trip to secure lowest airfare). Travel advances for expenses that will be incurred during the trip will not be approved prior to 14 days before the trip.
- Employees may use the procurement card to pay for airfare, registration, hotel, car, meals, social expense while out of town, and catered events. Local social and entertainment expenses, specifically dining out at St. Louis area restaurants, will not be allowed on the procurement card.
- All travel expenses paid by the procurement card must be entered on a travel expense statement. As a best practice, the supplemental procurement card expenses form should be used to detail procurement card activity. The original procurement card receipts should be kept in the department or school procurement card files.
- Travel related expenses must be submitted on the revised travel expense statement with receipts attached (other than procurement card). Supporting documentation is encouraged for all reimbursable expenses, regardless of amount; however, it is only required for individual expenses of $30 or more. Any individual transaction of $30 or more without a receipt requires exception approval.
- For a trip of seven or fewer days, exception approval will be required if the total of all expenses for which there are no receipts submitted is greater than $210. For longer trips, this limit may increase by $30 per day.
- After the traveler signs the travel expense statement, the travel expense statement must be signed by someone who is at least one level higher than the traveler or by a designee coordinated with the Accounts Payable Manager and approved by the Controller's Office. Principal Investigators (PI's) can sign for travel paid on their research grants. PI's cannot approve their own travel expense statements.
- When an exception to the policy is necessary, a brief explanation of the exception must be noted on the travel expense statement and exception approval must be obtained from the Dean or Vice Chancellor who has responsibility over the employee's department. If responsibility is delegated to someone other than the Dean or Vice Chancellor, it cannot be delegated to the person who approves the Travel Report and the designee must be coordinated with the Accounts Payable Manager and approved by the Controller's Office.
